I, _____ hereby acknowledge that I'm signing up for a world of hurt. I guarantee that I'm in at least "good" physical condition, recognizing that 'poor' to 'fair' conditioning will not get a person through this event. I fully acknowledge that this event carries with it certain risks inherent to travel and or competition in a remote wilderness setting, not the least of which is the possibility that I might get lost or eaten by a bear. As such, I have taken all appropriate precautions. My helmet, bicycle, shoes and other equipment are in good working order, and I trust my life and safety to them. I take full responsibility for myself during the course of this event. Me and my estate waive all legal right to file suit with the event promoter, benefactors, sponsors, volunteers, and any others involved with the event. Heck, most of them aren't insured and ain't worth a nickel anyways. I won't litter, but I will have fun!
